ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a system and method of aligning, preferably by an automated procedure, a beam of electromagnetic radiation provided by a source thereof so that it approaches a sample at a specific location upon its surface, at a known angle, then reflects therefrom and enters a data detector.

5

10

15

20

25

30